Jacob's teaching philosophy comes from understanding that every swing is different and every player has different goals they would like to achieve. He will look at each swing differently and take what you do naturally and try to maximize your progression to give you the best opportunity to reach your goals out on the course. He has worked with all skill levels from beginner to the avid golfer. He has gained knowledge from playing for 16+ years and mentors he has had along the way. He has had the opportunity to be around some renowned coaches of the PGA/ LPGA tour. He is committed to get each of his students to attain their goals on the course and have the ability to play with confidence every time they head out for a round.
